

Shock & Awe Dreams 12-27-24@ 11:28 AM

Jesus Christ my love I had a series of dreams last night from You. I have tried, tested, and prayed about them in Your Name. I am now being asked by You to write them down in my journal because they are to be shared. I asked Sweet Holy Spirit to bring all back to my memory for Father God's glory in Your Great and wonderful Name Jesus Christ my love.

1st Dream 12-27-24@ 12:28 AM

It began when I found myself looking down upon the heavens, the sky above the land of our Earth. I see a bright light flashed through the sky in the upper Heavens, what we call the darkest space. "It seemed to have come from the direction of the sun," I thought to myself when I looked around to see where it came from. "It's come from the sun or it's possibly a very bright lightning strike. Or maybe it's something else," I pondered.

Then suddenly as I was looking at the Sun out of its fiery surface I saw what looked like an eruption or burst of light with a wave effect. From where I'm at it lights up the whole area and goes spreading out in the direction of the Earth. I have the knowing somehow it won't take long before it hits the Earth's atmosphere with a great force and when it does it's going to come as a shock. I heard a voice say to me, "Yes, a shock indeed. It's time for the "shock" of shock and all to begin." Then I awoke.

2nd Dream 12-27-24@ 2:19 AM

I went back to sleep after praying and immediately began dreaming again. This time I was standing on a flat map of our world. As it really is and not how we've been taught by this world's corrupt systems. I'm standing in the area of the North Pole where I can see our world fully. I heard the same voice from the first Dream asked me, "What is the definition of the word shock?" "Huh!" I replied wondering why I would be asked such a question or I'm standing on a world map.

The voice asked again. "Tell me what is the definition of the word shock?" I felt compelled to answer this time so I said, "To be shocked is to be surprised by something." Suddenly I'm hit by flying confetti. The voice replied, "You are correct." Then the confetti quit falling and the voice fell silent. I stood quiet for a moment and then asked. "What's so important with the word shock? Also why am I standing on the world map?" The voice answered me quickly. "So you can see it when it happens." "See what?" I asked. "The shock! The shocking thing," the voice replied. "And what is that?" I asked. "I will show you if you will answer me this question," the voice said. "Okay, if I'm able then Lord willing, I will answer it," I felt compelled to say.

The voice spoke once more from above me and asked. "What words have you been seeking the answer to since hearing them spoken to you spiritually? Since the 22nd of this month you're living in?" I was stunned as I replied, "I've been hearing the words shock and awe, shock and awe repeatedly. "That is correct," the voice said as once again the colorful confetti flew into the air around me. I'm covered in confetti.

I looked around at the world map. My eyes focused on Ukraine. The voice spoke once again and said, "Did not Russia surprise the world with a Christmas Day attack? Yes, they did," The voice replied before I could answer. Then it continued. "This surprise was not actually the "shock" because this shock will be something that is unsettling to the whole world filled with awe. Tell me what does the word awe mean?" The voice asked me. I stood for a moment pondering whether I should answer this question or not. I still hadn't seen the "shock" on the map. I hesitated for only a small moment as an overwhelming need to know these things can tell me to answer.

"The word awe means to have a feeling of reverent fear, respect, and wonder." There was a noise that sounded like a buzzard going off and The voice replied, "That is not the original meaning of the word. The original or archaic as your world calls it means: dread, terror, the power to inspire dread. Oh," I said, as the phrase, "Shock and awe," became clear to me. "It will be shock and awe upon your world. Shock and awe as your world enters the age of nuclear attacks," the voice from above me said.

Then suddenly I saw a large mushroom type cloud rise up above Ukraine. "Oh no," I cried out. Then I heard noises in the other direction. As I turned I saw multiple smaller mushroom clouds rising in places over the United States. Shock and awe, shock and awe it will be. Shock and awe has come to your world." Then I awoke. I prayed then was instructed by my lovely Jesus Christ to sleep more. I quickly went back to sleep and began dreaming again.

3rd Dream 12-27-24@ 4:12 AM

It began when I found myself looking at a calendar on a wall but it's not like a normal calendar that I use. It has displayed upon it November at the top but when I examined it closely it looks like there is tape around the mentioned month's name. "Hmm," I said, then asked out loud, "Why is there tape on the name of this month, on the word November?" I looked at the black and white calendar closely. It looks like the month's name November doesn't really belong here. I reached up to see if I could remove the tape. It's taped really good as if whoever taped the word November here intended for it to never be removed. I tried again to no avail to remove the tape.

"Jesus Christ your Word says in Luke 8:17 Nothing is secret that shall not be made manifest, neither anything hid that should not be known and come abroad. And Luke 12:2 says For there is nothing covered that should not be revealed, neither hear that shall not be known. According to Your Word what's in here shall be revealed. If it's time for this to be revealed of what's under the month November's name then I ask in Your Name let me get this tape up to see what's beneath it."

I heard in my mind, "Try again daughter." "Okay," I said out loud. Then I reached up once again to try to remove the tape. It came off easily. I removed the word November to see the word December. Immediately I heard spoken, "Shock and awe daughter shock and awe." Then I awoke.

4th Dream 12-27-24@ 5:28 AM

I dreamed again. It begins with me hearing repeatedly the words shock and awe being spoken loudly. "Shock and awe, shock and awe, shock and awe," over and over again. I yelled out, "What does that mean? What is shock and awe? What happens when shock and awe happens?" Suddenly I'm standing outside. There is snow falling but it's dirty and gray almost like ash. I'm observing these things. I spoke these words, "Dirty snow has come. The nukes have gone off in our world. What will happen now to America since these things have occurred?"

Suddenly I have a thick paper newspaper handed to me like a Sunday edition when they included the sales ads and comics. The headline reads, "America's been breached! No one knows who to trust. UN steps in to offer its aid and support." "Oh," I said quickly then continued, "but I thought they were really the bad guys in disguise."

A hand reaches over from nowhere and grabs some newspaper I'm holding out of my hands and replaces it with a smaller one. It's not very thick at all. The headline reads, "Top secret information! UN operatives enter the nation to extend its hand in peace while really preparing for its hostile takeover." I looked at the paper in stunned horror then dropped it to the wet ground. I walked a little ways until I saw a grocery store. In front of it where the metal newspaper box stands you put your money in to pull out a newspaper. The headline reads, "Can our world survive all that's happened?"

The plastic like plexiglass in front of it is scuffed and smudged. I reached into my pocket to see if I had any change to get a newspaper where I could get one to read it clearly. I don't. I leaned closer and I could read some of the beginning of the article itself. Here's what I could make out. I saw the year 2025 and the words, "It all began with Ukraine then the 10 individual suitcases detonated inside....." Then it became unreadable. I could read again the next sentence. "Many nations were surprised at the offer of the United Nations to offer to send troops to aid the United States....." then there's more words I'm not able to see clearly.

It's readable again with these words, "when all nations are recovering from the gross darkness that covered our world causing many to vanish." I tried to read more but that's as far as a plexiglass will let me see. I tried to open the box but it's tightly secured. I looked up to the heavens and said and asked. "Shock and awe, shock and awe for America, does it begin with the 10 rogue nuclear devices hidden in suitcases in the United States? Or is it when Putin sends his first nuclear strike launched against the US that comes afterwards?"

I heard a still small voice from the Heavens say, "Shock and awe daughter, shock and awe comes now to your nation. It's not the last but the first. The obvious is not always the obvious as you saw in the previous dream. I control times and seasons. I say when these things occur and not man, not the fallen angels. Shock and awe, daughter has come. Brace yourself but for a moment I say to My children because I come for what is Mine before the worst begins, My wrath falls, and the world is destroyed by what is to come. This daughter is what I have been warning you about. The time for shock and awe has arrived, has come and your world is about to be forever changed." Then I awoke.

5th Dream 12-27-24@ 6:43 AM

I dreamed again. I was standing in a street and I'm surrounded by Christmas trees. On each street light are the words, 'tis the season, hanging down on a red sign with white writing that look like a curl piece of ribbon. "What is this?" I asked as I took out my cell phone to see today's date of December 27th displayed on it. "It's after Christmas Day by the calendar," I said out loud. A great wind suddenly came and blue hard and all the Christmas trees were knocked down. They were fake! They were made out of cardboard like cutouts but they had looked so real. The 'tis the season, signs are still hanging in their places.

Now I can see behind the fallen ones more Christmas trees. I don't even celebrate Christmas Day because of its pagan origins tied to yule. I walked the short distance to a row of Christmas trees to my right. They are real live trees I could tell by touching them and the smell of them. From the heavens I heard, "The obvious is not always correct. Something that's been changed is not always the truth of the matter."

"The first presented Christmas trees were fake and these are real." "I understand the meaning of old Christmas now," I said, "but what does the signs hanging from the lights mean that say, 'tis the season? Tis the season for what?" "Shock and awe daughter," came the reply. "It's the season, the time for shock and awe. Then I woke up again.
