

Fat Boy Type Weapon Dream 11-8-24@5:56 AM With Confirmation of it & Others 12-24-24

Please pray about this in Jesus Christ's name and try, test and discern it according to the Word of God. Let all things be done to glorify Father God through Jesus Christ His Son.

I dreamed again Father God, Jesus Christ. I have prayed about it, tried and tested it and now I'm here to write it down with sweet Holy Spirit's help.

It began with me in a suburb type setting in which I am in one of the homes. It's not my place of residency, I knew going into the dream but I was there because of what was happening. Across the street was another home. Beside the home the man had a nuclear bomb. A fat man, a fat boy is what he called it. I called it fat and squabby. He is continually saying, "I've got a fat boy type missile and I'm going to use it." The whole suburb had heard his threats yet no one seemed alarmed except for a few people inside the house I was staying in.

 My understanding is this. The man across the street means their lands are connected by the street symbolic of a land border. They are neighbors. The man/neighbor with the fat boy type weapons is making continual brags, threats, and taunts to the neighborhood...those watching who represents and is symbolic for the whole world. His brags are centered around this one particular fat boy weapon which is also a bomb but also a missile that he is ready to use. This is the Oreshnik that Putin used on November 21, 2024. Also the Oreshnik is smaller in size being a medium size ballistic missile compared to the larger ICBM and such like but it contains the capability to be nuclear armed. Putin...just like the neighbor in the dream has been bragging about its power to the world. He continually threatens to use it again on Ukraine and implying its use on the US and Nato countries too. Now he has challenged the U.S. to a missile duel against his Oreshnik. ***

Everybody on both sides of the street heard his loud but quiet threats. No one evacuated their homes. Why I am at this particular house that's directly across from the man making the threats that he has a fat boy type weapon I'm not sure yet. I can actually see it because it's openly sitting outside the home in his side yard. I'm inside the house opposite it across the street. There are at least two females and one male in the home. I am talking to all three of them as we sat across the table.

"You got to leave," I said. "Make preparations to find somewhere else to live while there's still time. The man across the street will use his Fat boy top weapon." The older dark-haired woman who I knew was a mother of the other two spoke in a soft but firm voice. "The man is crazy. He has a weapon but it's only a shell. He makes empty threats." "No, that's not correct," I said. "I have been praying and Jesus Christ has shown me it's fully loaded and operational." The woman's eyes narrowed sharply as she spoke. "He would be a fool to do such a thing. But because you have come into our house out of love for our concern and safety when my husband returns we will discuss this further. I will give him the warning." Then she looked at me and said, "You're welcome to stay here until he gets home and arrangements can be made to send you safely on your way. But until I speak with my husband, the ruler of this house we will not be leaving or even begin making any such preparations.

My heart sank within my chest but I gave her a little smile and said, "Thank you for listening and hearing me out." "You are welcome," she replied. I noticed her son and daughter kept their heads down during the whole conversation. The daughter appeared to be in her early or mid twenties with the son a little younger in his age. We were dismissed from the table. The mother headed toward the kitchen. The daughter followed in that direction. I got up and headed for the living room area that had a large open window. You could see the neighbor's house clearly across the dividing street.

I stopped to gaze at the weapon across the street at the side of the man's house who once again is standing outside shouting to all he's going to use the fat boy type weapon. Then he pointed at the house we were in. The woman's son came and stood beside me. He also is dark-headed as well as his sister whose hair color matched that of their mother. Which I thought odd because usually there is at least a slight variance in the children's hair color because a different gene traits of each parent that's contributed to them at conception.

I'm looking thoughtfully at the whole scene before me when the son spoke and said, "You're not wrong. The man's weapon is not an empty shell." "How do you know that?" I asked quickly. "Because I sneaked over there one night while all were sleeping. There's only so much you can see from observing it from the window. I was able to sneak over unobserved and return safely to my room. I told my father but he responded angrily. He accused me of trying to cause fear in the family and not to tell such lies to the people in our suburb. So I haven't spoken to anyone else about it until now. But you know things most people do not. How is that possible?" He asked. The information I get is from Father God in Heaven, our Creator through His Son Jesus Christ. He tells me and shows me things through His Holy Spirit," I said softly. "I have heard of your God being able to do such things but when I've asked if these things are true that He can do, everyone in this neighborhood compares them to the man across the street. A man who makes empty threats they say with no power to back up his words."

I looked at him intently then said quickly, "That's wrong information on both accounts. First the God I serve Jehovah, our Creator is all powerful but He is love above all else. He is patient and long-suffering when He sends a warning of something He is about to do. A warning of judgment is sent out of love for His creation mankind. It is a warning of punishment coming for evil wicked sins. Sometimes it comes immediately, most times it does not because the God of Heaven through His Son Jesus Christ gives us time to repent. This means a time to ask forgiveness of all the wrong evil things we've done and time to change our ways. If after this given time the people have turned from their evil ways then that judgment can be averted or suspended to a later time, if the people return to their sinful ways. He being God can even remove the judgment if He so chooses. But when it's time for Him to move, to act in His power and righteous judgment there's no denying it was His hand that moved upon our world."

"It's going to be the same concerning this man across the street in that he is not making empty threats. He has the power of his fat boy type missile to back up his words. Even though people like your father are denying it and calling it empty threats. That's why the God of Heaven through Jesus Christ who is my Lord and Savior has brought me here to warn you." The young man looked at me thoughtfully. "I will think on your words," he said. Then he looked out the window and said, "Father and this man have been feuding for a long time. I believe this man will use this weapon on us. We'll wait until father gets back and see how he leads us to proceed." "Fair enough, " I replied, then the same changed.

I know it's the same day somehow and I'm sitting outside beside the house I have visited in the somewhat brittle grass. I am praying as I look over to the man's place with the fat boy type weapon in the side yard. I know he's going to use it. There's only a street dividing the two houses. When he does use it there will be much damage because the weapon's close enough to do major damage to not only the house but the whole suburb. "Jesus Christ my love what should I do?" One little reply I heard gently spoken to me, "Watch daughter." I complied immediately and turned my full attention on the house across the street. From where I'm sitting at an angle in the yard I'm able to see directly into his house. His front window to be exact. The man in question I see has what looks like a wall that has nothing but control panels and computers built into it. He is standing at the gray console pushing buttons.

I heard him say, "It's time." Then he walks toward the front door. As he comes out the front door he sees me but doesn't care. "He's going to fire. He's going to fire this weapon," I said to myself. The man walks over to the side of his yard where the fat boy type squabby missile is sitting uncovered in the yard. And open threat not hidden for all to see it has been. He gets behind the weapon and with great force and strength he begins pushing the weapon to the front of his property. The property line with only the street dividing it. Suddenly the black fat missile changes into a long narrow sleek silver tipped one. He looks at it triumphantly. I jumped up and ran into the house.

"He's going to fire!" I shouted out. I stopped myself abruptly when I almost collided into the father of the home who had returned unnoticed by me. "What is all the shouting about?" He asked sternly. "The man, your neighbor is preparing to fire his weapon, only it's no longer the fat and squabby looking one." The man looked at me almost hatefully then said. "We have been feuding for years. He has threatened us with these types of weapon threats and has failed to use them. They are empty threats like his missiles." "No father," his son spoke up. "You know this is not true. I told you I went to his yard. His weapon is not an empty shell on display. I told you this weeks ago."

Surprise filled the mother's face and fear filled the daughter's. She looked quickly to her son and she knew he was speaking the truth. She turned to her husband and asked. "Why did you not tell us? Why let us believe his weapons would not be used on us? We are too close. There's no time to get far enough away from the weapon's power. Why would you do that to us, your family and the people around us? We trusted you and you knew all along the threat was real," she said almost in disbelief of the change of events I had just occurred. "We have to leave and leave now," she said imploringly to her husband.

He replied almost angrily. "And where would we go? Where can any of us go to safety to get out of reach of the man's fat boy type weapon? I say he will not fire! This feud must continue but by other means." The young son looked at his father then said. "Tell that to him father. She's right, he's going to fire, only his weapon has changed." The whole family turned to the large window to see the view before them. The neighbor man is triumphantly dancing around the now long sleek weapon as if doing a victory dance even before launching it. I saw shock on each face as a color drain from them of the father, mother, and daughter.

The daughter spoke up for the first time. "I'm out of here, you lied to us." Then she took off running toward the back door of the house. "Where will you go?" The father shouted. "You cannot escape the weapon's reach." The daughter shouted back. "Who knows, maybe the God Vicki was speaking of will protect me if I ask His Son into my heart to forgive me. I'm not staying here!" Then I heard the door slam as if she had hastily exited the door fully. Apparently she had heard me speak to her brother about Father God and Jesus Christ. The father let out a string of curse words as he gave me a murderous look. "You're the cause of this," he shouted with his hands clenched.

I looked at him and then calmly pointed to the window and said, "Your feud with him is the cause. I came only to give the warning to all who will listen. This man will fire! He's preparing to fire now even as we speak." This caused all eyes to turn to the neighbor man who had quit dancing and instead now held a giant unlit match in his hands. The match was longer in length than him. He walks to the back of the missile then with hardly any difficulty he runs it across a brittle ground and it bursts into flames. A smile appeared on his face. He looks over to the house we're in and smiles even bigger. Then he holds the match to the back of the sleek long missile and it ignites somehow with smoke coming out the back as the missile slowly begins coming alive.

The mother begins screaming. The son falls to his knees praying and the father screams defiantly, "He will not use his weapon! He will not fire! This is not the rules in our engagement." As he's screaming his face changes into that of President Zelensky of Ukraine. I looked out over the dividing line of the street to the man standing beside the alive missile. He now has a face of Vladimir Putin. I heard these words inside the dream being spoken. "I have sent warning through many of My children's voices yet few have listened and taken them to heart. I do not speak idle words through those who are really Mine. You were warned this day would come. Now it's here." Then I see the missile begin to fly toward the house we're in and I awoke suddenly with my heart beating fast in my chest. I hear my lovely Jesus Christ say to me in my shaken state. "It's time daughter, it's time."

Russia is pushing forward with the deployment of its RS-28 Sarmat intercontinental ballistic missile, also known as Satan 2, despite facing challenges and setbacks, including failed tests, according to the Russia's TASS news agency.

Sergey Karakaev, commander of the Strategic Missile Forces \(SMF\), confirmed in an article on Thursday, that the deployment of the silo-based Sarmat missile system is proceeding, marking a critical step in modernizing Russia's nuclear arsenal.

"Today, the SMF has integrated fifth-generation missile complexes Yars and Avangard into its combat lineup, while work is ongoing in deploying the latest silo-based Sarmat missile system with a heavy liquid-fueled missile," Karakaev wrote.

Putin and the Button Vision 10-8-24 @ 11:34 AM Partial Entry

While praying this vision came. I saw a hand, a man's hand hitting a button. Pressing a button, a red button that to me is screaming, "Warning, warning!" I saw the wrist of the man who was fair skinned. I see the white sleeve of his shirt and I could tell he's wearing a suit. The color of the man's suit is either dark gray or black. Then I saw the vision go up the arm and the man's shoulder until I saw his face. It's Vladimir Putin.

Then I heard out loud in an audible voice. "He will use the nuclear weapons device on Ukraine. He's now been released to do that. It is time, it is time, daughter it is time. There's no going back. There's no going back. I come for what is Mine. Those who are ready, those who are ready and waiting for me. I come daughter, I come."

Putin will fire 10-8-24 a@ 3:33 PM Partial Entry

Putin will fire. He will use the weapons of the nuclei. The weapons empowered by the nuclear power upon Ukraine, the people of Ukraine. Upon Ukraine as I have shown you daughter. As I have revealed to you. As I have spoken to you, and it will be the failsafe that's removed.

Putin paints himself as a one being backed into the corner. As the bear is continually poked by the US government. No daughter, each is just playing the role. Their given role from the Illuminati and the fallen ones to further divide Babylon, The divided states of Babylon of no longer America to Me.

The news of the world paints a woeful picture that Putin's armies are depleted. Daughter, what he has used has simply been expendable. Because many, and I say many of his superior weapons granted to him from the fallen angels and the nephilim are in reserve for your once great nation. As I have said repeatedly hidden under the grounds. Hidden under the waters. Hidden and held and protected by the marine kingdom, by the fallen ones the kingdom of darkness.....

.....The vision you saw is Putin firing. Putin will fire, Putin will fire, Putin will fire! He will press the button. He will give the command and the nuclear safeguard will be removed. Then it's a green light all the way for all other nations. As I have declared, as I have shown you daughter. It's been My command that's kept anything from going off.

I send My Son to fulfill this command. Which He has already done in the Heavens. Now He declares it upon your earth, in your earth, inside this firmament. His command, His roar has echoed because great is the sins of this world. Great is their idolatry. Great is the sins of what they've done to My creation. Great is the judgment upon this world.

The Hour, The Time...It's Here! 10-19-24@2:01 PM Partial Entry

The hour has arrived, children the hour has arrived. You know what to look for. You know what is your signal even before the lights. The mushroom type clouds going up around your world....Ukraine...US which is Babylon to Me.

It's Time for Putin to Fire 10-20-24 @ 5:43 PM Partial Entry

The drums of war beat faster and faster daughter. The sound of war has been heard throughout the land. Putin fires again at the Ukrainian people but this time he uses the devices, the weapons sustained by the nuclear power. It is time, daughter. Not a drill or a war commencement of games, of strategies.

He has grown wary of playing cat and mouse with Zelensky of Ukraine when they both know he has been called to win this war by those powers in control of your world's operations... the fallen angels, the upper elite of the council of 13, hidden secret society, and their front, the illuminati.....

.....He is preparing to fire daughter. His aim will be true and then all those defending him...Putin the bear swayed by his charm and seducing spirit shall know. Yes, he will push the button that sets off the nuclear powered weapon device that shall send shock waves throughout your world.

Nuclear Weapons Will Be Used 11-19-24 @ 7:58 AM With Confirmation 12-18-24

Please pray about this in Jesus Christ's name and try, test and discern it according to the Word of God. Let all things be done to glorify Father God through Jesus Christ His Son.

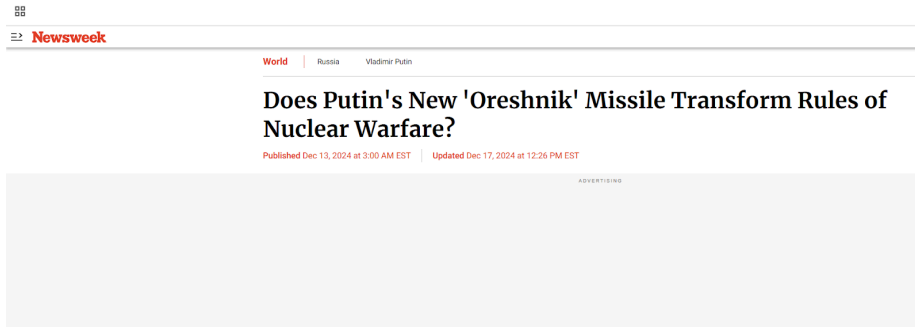

Putin of the bear rages and bellows in outrage that his warnings have been defied by the world. He will fire at Ukraine with weapons sustaining.....

Putin will fire at Ukraine with weapons sustaining (Able to support) and containing nuclear power within.

We have 2 weapons being discussed here. One that can support nuclear power and the other that will contain it. The missile supporting the nuclear capabilities is the Oreshnik that was first launched on 11-21-24. This word was shared on 11-19-24.

Oreshnik missile can sustain and has nuclear capabilities though not used on the attack by Russia on 11-21-24. Insert from Newsweek article from link below.

Newsweek spoke to John Erath, senior policy director for the Center for Arms Control and Non-Proliferation, about whether Russia's use of the Oreshnik could change the rules of nuclear warfare.

"Not at all," he said. "They already have the capability to deliver nuclear weapons wherever they want. This particular missile is nuclear capable, so you can put a nuclear weapon on it. So, if it's launched toward Western Europe, it is explicitly a nuclear threat. Because you don't know what the warhead is until the thing lands and explodes."

He regarded Putin's signing of an updated nuclear doctrine similarly and described it as an "intimidation tactic."

"The way that they updated the nuclear doctrine that was not too significant," Erath said. "It was updated to be a little bit more threatening, but the spirit of the thing is very much the same. Again, we look at it in terms of the overall Russian strategy of persuading countries supporting Ukraine that it's going to cost them more in every sense to continue to support Ukraine than it would to make a quick peace and get out."

Russia fired new ballistic missile at Ukraine, Putin says

By Anastasiia Malenko, Tom Balmforth and Max Hunder
November 21, 2024 7:29 PM CST - Updated a month ago

Summary

- Putin says Ukraine war taking on global character

.....and containing nuclear power within. (Putin's use of a nuclear weapon against Ukraine hasn't come yet as of today 12-18-24 at the time I am compiling this information with sweet Holy Spirit's help in Jesus Christ's Name.)

And then daughter he will also fire a barrage of weapons upon Babylon when all eyes have focused on the king of the east, of China as well as your wicked nation of Babylon daughter. The world calls Putin cruel and evil and what is done to the war victims of Ukraine. Yes, he is cruel. So is Zelensky of the Ukraine. It's just that aiding nations help keep this news of Ukraine from surfacing as much. But daughter the cruelty of what your nation's elite and military does in the shadows of darkness even to its own people far surpasses the cruelty of Zelensky or Putin of the bear. And for this cruelty Babylon shall be repaid. Russia the bear shall be fortified as time passes before the move comes as they cast their eyes upon Jerusalem, upon Israel My beloved land as it is written. Gog of Magog we'll attack Israel with others loyal to him. Who support can already be seen in the nations' alliances, the coalition formed against your once great nation now called Babylon to Me. Babylon of old, yet also Babylon of new.

Putin shall soon fire his nuclear powered attack against Ukraine. When Zelensky gives the order for the long range missiles to strike the heart of Russia of old and not what's called it's heart of today Putin will fire. He will fire without hesitation. He is already preparing the attack response now by selecting his key target. Did I not say this would come? Do you really think Putin shall resist much longer? He is still enraged that a small piece of Russian territory has actually been captured by enemy hands. Something that hasn't happened since the last major war that hit your whole world. All these things go hand in hand intertwining and interlocking each event with one another to fulfill what I have commended for these end time days. Daughter is that time for these things to occur. Putin will fire first on Ukraine but he is not the only one who uses these types of weapons. Other nations shall follow including your own but your nation, daughter shall be the first to use them on their own people in the form of the suitcase nukes. See the cruelty of Babylon's rulers!

It's time to repent without delay. I called out to those straddling the fence trying to serve the world while professing to love Me. Calling me Jesus Christ your Savior. Repent while there's still time. Repent while My Spirit still convicts you and speaks to your heart, your mind to do so and to mend your ways. Repeat before I shut the door of grace upon you, those of you of Mine who refuse to surrender fully to Me. Who loves Me with mouth and deeds but your heart is still encased with the hardness of sin. This door is shut at different times for each person.

Repent O' world, I say to those My spirit is drawing to Me. He's drawing you to a place of repentance. Come to Me now, ask Me to forgive your sins and I will wash them clean away. I will give you new life. Many have not long before they are removed from this world. Whether by death which will be for many or whether by My return. Prepare your hearts for I'm on My way. It won't be long O' beloved children of Mine, it won't be long. There must be darkness for the light to be seen. I am the light of your world and I'm coming for those who are Mine. Be prepared to go because I'm on My way. All is set, all is ready. All is commanded, all is about to commence. Hold on little children I come, I come for what's Mine. For those Father has given Me and those who have chosen Me and are ready for My return. Do not be dismayed by all these things. They are to let you know it's the allotted time of My return.
