

Behold, The Aurora Dancing Lights Dream 3-11-25@3:33 AM Shared 3-13-25

I dreamed again, my lovely Jesus Christ. I have tried, tested, discerned, and prayed about it and it has proven to be from You once again. Dear sweet powerful Holy Ghost Spirit, bring it all to my remembrance once again and don't let me write one word not from Father God's Heaven, in Jesus Christ's Name.

I found myself going into this dream on what I knew was somehow Staten Island, New York. I was there long enough to see the Statue of Liberty in the distance lit up with lights. Then, suddenly, I found myself on top of the Statue of Liberty. I mean literally on the top, standing in between the spikes of her crown. There are 7 spikes in total. I'm standing from my estimation somewhere above her right eye when looking her directly in the face. It's cloudy outside, I noticed as I looked at the sky. The sky doesn't look natural, not even the lights of the everyday bustle of life present. As I looked out across the waters, I couldn't help but notice everything seemed covered in a film, like the air was dirty as if everything had a sepia (brown-like) color. Everything has a dimness to it wherever I look. Even the lights of the buildings seemed to have been dimmed. It's eerie and unnatural looking over the whole area where I'm at in New York.

I looked up at the night sky again, covered in clouds in most places. I could see stars here and there, so the dark film wasn't a full darkness. This reminds me of how it's described in part when darkness fell for 3 hours on the crucifixion day, I thought to myself. The areas affected were darkened yet they could still see the stars, its reported. Even the clouds look like there was a sepia film over them. A feeling of apprehension and dread filled my being. Something has happened here to cause everything in every direction to appear in such a darkened state. I also had an understanding that this is not covering the whole world. I looked out across the water and land once again, from my vantage point on top of the Statue of Liberty, not liking the uneasy feeling of dread that is spread throughout my body and mind.

"Jesus Christ, my Love, what is it?" I asked Him out loud. I felt a strong, uncontrollable desire to look up into the sky once again. As I did, I saw a round red blood moon that was shining somehow through the dirtiness of the air that even though it was still seeable, it too, looked like a film coating of dinginess was over it. My mouth dropped open as I exclaimed, "The Blood Moon! It's the time of Purim, of God's judgment for the world, and deliverance for His people once again!" I'm not sure how much time passed as I stood staring at the red moon, no longer covered by the clouds that seemed now as if fixed in its position for me to see. "Father God", I whispered, "Please have mercy in judgment."

All of a sudden I began to see bits and pieces of color appearing in the sky. And then quickly the sky was lit up with them. "It's the dancing, colorful Aurora Lights!" I exclaimed, "they're here!" The time is now and I knew whatever caused the dinginess in the air was contributing to the lights being vibrantly seen. This is in addition to the hole in the earth's ozone layer and the weakening of our magnetic field where the Black Rock is losing its magnetic ability. Then I heard a voice fill the sky around me that I recognized as my lovely Jesus Christ.

"I have done everything for My children to be prepared. I have told them when this is happening. I have told them how to prepare. I've given them signs in the sky that relate to My return. I've given them biblical background... the deliverance of My people. This is the end, Daughter. I take My children home. Those that are willing, waiting, and ready. I take them home. Your scholars, and My people, and others that studied the Word of God, My written Word, have misinterpreted the meaning of many things, not rightly dividing it and discerning it with the Holy Spirit leading them. This is why there's so much fighting and error among My children. The fallen ones have come in with their heresy, with their twisting of Scripture, with their new divine revelation, and it's not of Me. My Word must be spiritually discerned and the true discernment comes from My Holy Ghost Spirit. The fallen ones have some understanding as time goes by of what things mean, but they look to My true prophets, My true children, to get an understanding of what it really means, because their hearts are blackened and their minds darkened."

After He spoke, I stood there on top of the Statue of Liberty with the dancing aurora lights all around me which were beautiful to behold, but to me I knew the fierce judgment of a Holy God behind them. For soon and very soon the 3 Days of Darkness will fall in the coming hours and what is to follow is worse in that it will bring the unleashing of all that is evil to our world. For those who are ready for Jesus Christ's return, they will soon find deliverance has come for them. Just as in the days of Esther and the Jewish people in this time of Purim. Then I awoke.
