

They Do What Dream 10-27-24@6:20 AM

I dreamed again my lovely Jesus Christ. I have tried and discerned it's from You. I dreamed of the many ways the enemy can use deception against God's children. Actually against all people. Sweet Holy Spirit in Jesus Christ's Name help me to remember all Jesus Christ, my love wants me to write and only what is from Him in His great all-powerful Name I pray and ask.

In this dream it began with me on my knees praying. I was seeking to understand more the way the enemy attacks the true children of God. So, that I'm not kept in the dark or ignorant of any of the ways lucifer's kingdom, the dark kingdom can attack. While still praying in this dream I began having visions of some of the ways that the enemy uses deception upon us.

The first vision was of a man of power. This man was Barack Obama and he is standing in front of a world's podium wearing a dark blue suit with a medium blue shirt. Accompanying it was a plain but expensive red tie. There are several black microphones installed upon the world's podium. He is speaking to the crowd and world. He's talking of how he's honored to be one of Earth's representatives chosen by the new world's leader to welcome the aliens who had walked among us secretly to aid mankind. "This world delegation," he said, " shall further aid in our world becoming unified.

As he is speaking I see his words formed and spread out into the air like projectile weapons. The huge crowd that had gathered mostly began to have a glazed look come over their eyes as they continued listening intently to every word he spoke. I heard in this dream from the Heavens these words spoken.

"Charmed words, and a charmed voice, enhanced with seducing spirits, enticements, and be Richmond cast upon him and his voice and the service of the man of sin, of antichrist. Attached to Obama are seducing spirits by these witchcraft acts and rituals that allows him to be charismatic, likable, undeniable, along with a cloud of enchanted brain fog that allows his words to be received by all who are not Mine."

"Those willing to hear and know the truth shall know to pray against such deception of not only the voice and actions of Barack Obama, forerunner and prophet for the man of sin but for anyone or anything they choose to watch or listen to." Then the vision in my dream vanished.

I continue praying in Holy Ghost tongues in Jesus Christ's Name fervently seeking more of His truth in these matters. All of a sudden another vision appears to me in this dream. I am seeing what looks like a woman kneeling at an evil altar which I determined from the items laying upon it. Not to mention the shadowy demon with red glaring eyes standing behind the altar. I'm not going to describe the scene around them because Sweet Holy Spirit said this was enough information on this part.

The shadowy demon is speaking and although I can tell it's evil his voice doesn't sound that way. "You are to infiltrate her life," the demon is saying. "Get as close to her as if you were her best friend or natural born sister. You must become embedded into her everyday life. She is a praying woman. If we reach her now before she fully develops her weapon of prayer we can weaken her and possibly destroy her relationship with the Nazarene and the God of Heaven. You must not fail. Failure will be met with the severest of punishment. This one has a chosen position in the Nazarene's army to come written of in the Scripture of Truth in Revelation.

"Cloak yourself in deception's veil. Enchant and bewitch it. As you build your relationship give her gifts of enchanted, cursed, and accursed items and even to her family. Focus on the children. It will touch the target's heart when you bring gifts to her offspring. This is an easy avenue to most of the Nazarene's children. She's beginning to spiritually awake so cast forth more slumber spells into her mind's consciousness and subconsciousness. Once you befriend her, stay true to the course of actions laid out before you. You are not to deviate at all. Deviation from the masters' plan will be the cause of receiving the severest of punishment. The woman obediently nodded her head and said in an obedient voice, "It will be done my lord."

"And one more thing," the evil demon added, "seek the aid of the familiar spirits. They are on standby. Cloak yourself with the familiarity of her best friend of her high school days that she has lost touch with. It's still on active duty against your target and it's being recalled to join you." "It will be done," the woman at the altar said. Then suddenly the vision vanished.

I began sobbing as I realized just how much the kingdom of darkness hates us and seeks to destroy us. Yet I kept praying because to know your enemy's tactics and devices means you do not have to be caught unaware. I began praying more earnestly and again another vision suddenly appeared before me in this dream.

I'm seeing a bedroom and there is a man and a woman sleeping on the bed. I'm drawn to watch the woman who I know is dreaming because above her head is her dream being shown to me. But I apparently am seeing the spiritual things happening also inside the dream but I don't think she is. Or possibly she's not understanding in her dream what is really happening. In her dream the woman is sitting outside at a table and what looks like an outside cafe. She is near a waterfront somewhere because I can see in the distance what looks like sailboats and other types of boats. Some are docked while others are in the water being sailed. The dark headed woman of about 30 years of age is looking out at the view enjoying herself.

Suddenly my attention is drawn to the woman's right where I see two women talking and with them are some very tall demon figures who I know brought them here. I know these do not belong in this woman's dream. There is a long red-haired, heavily made up with makeup, fair skin woman with tattoos of different kinds covering her exposed arms and scantily clad chest. She is speaking to the other woman who is tan skinned with brown eyes and dark long hair too.

"Why are you speaking to me and why are you here?" The red-haired woman asked the dark-haired one then continued. "It only takes one of us to infiltrate a dream now that we've managed to find an entrance into her mind. I have been given this assignment. Go project yourself into someone else's dream." "You're right," the dark headed witch replied, "but I have been granted the right to watch. To observe and learn because I was unable to breach her mind myself and enter her dreams which I have never failed in doing before. Great is this one strength in the Nazarene."

The red-haired woman witch turned her head to the right and spat on the pavement in the dream. "That's what I think about the power of the Nazarene and His children." The tan skinned witch looked at the red-haired one and replied, "If they did not contain some type of power then why would someone like you in the top levels of sorcery and witchcraft, a legend in our circle and realm of the spirit be called in? I am here to learn." She continued, "So we can all take down the Nazarene's children and further the kingdom of our dark lords."

The tattooed covered witch looked thoughtfully at the other and then spoke. "Most of the Nazarene's children do not even know the Scripture of Truth except maybe a little. I have studied it myself extensively. You look for the loopholes. The Nazarene's woman knew to cast thoughts away in His Name we sent her but she never took the next step. She didn't take those thoughts captive. She merely cast the thoughts away. Attached to each thought that has a memory is one of our spirit friends, the Nazarene's children called demons."

"When the thoughts alone are cast away then yes so do our spirit friends leave when they do this in the power of the Nazarene's Name. But the loophole came into being when our friends, the demons familiar to the woman by these memories were summoned then attached with those called "demon familiars." The memories were pushed away but the familiar spirits accompanying them were not taken captive. Not bound and removed so it hid until the moment I needed a doorway. If when these memories were summoned or resurfaced as many calls it in the world today in her mind by the dark lords, if this Nazarene's child had cast the memories away but also had bound the demon familiar attached to it that was manipulating her feelings and thoughts and cast it away too then this door would not have been created or left open. The red-haired woman said. "Because all the thoughts, memories, and memory source would have been dealt with leaving nothing behind we could manipulate."

The other witch's mouth dropped open in surprise. She then began grinning from ear to ear. "That's clever," she said quickly. The red haired witch smiled back then said mockingly, "Now watch me work!" Then she changed her face to look like that of a man's. "Now I shall present myself as her old boyfriend Bob whose memories were summoned prior in reality. And now in her dream we will have a chance meeting where she will talk with me thinking I am her old love Bob."

"I shall take her memories and thoughts and manipulate her feelings with the demon familiars' help of things she thought she had removed from her life. This shall cause her to have feelings of doubt in her life choices, plus shame and guilt because she isn't married to Bob but John. All because she didn't study out the Scripture of Truth, nor does she know how to fight correctly against us."

"Many refused to believe we can enter someone's dreams by projecting our spirit souls out of our bodies by the help of our spirit guide friends," the red-haired witch said. As she nodded her head to the collection of demon spirits that had allowed them to travel out of their bodies and into this woman's dream.

"I shall come back tomorrow," she continued, "and I shall have Bob and her have a friendly little dinner. She need only take a bite or drink and our witchcraft agreement shall be in effect polluting her spirit and soul. Then I shall call forth a spell to wipe her memory so she will not be able to remember what has been done in her life. This is one of the greatest deceptions our dark lords have passed down to those loyal to them. If she isn't made aware or taught how to fight our attacks we should soon be able to utilize her soul and travel with its power instead of using up our own. She will sleep but wake up tired and exhausted. Even in this most of the Nazarene's children are ignorant."

"We have disguised many of our little adventures using their souls by planting deceptive lies that a holy Angel or the Nazarene came for them instead of us with our guides." The dark-haired witch began laughing then said jovially, "Yeah, even I use that one. They're ignorant to the fact that when the Nazarene or Heaven's Angels come and take you on a spirit journey in which your body remains they never return tired, exhausted, or weary because the God of Heaven gives to the Nazarene's children a good night's sleep that restorative. That is if they will trust Him for it because..."

Then both witches chimed in, "It's promised to them in the Scripture of Truth they don't read or study enough to know to receive it!" The dark-haired witch laughed again and said, "Which leaves us so many open doors into their lives which pleases our masters well." The other witch replied, "Watch this!" Still wearing the face of Bob.

She strolls casually by then pretends to take a second look. "Annabeth," the face of Bob exclaimed out loud. The woman at the table mouth dropped open in surprise as conflicting emotions crossed her face as she asked out loud, "Bob what are you doing here?" Then the vision vanished and I am alone on my knees still praying. I woke from the dream laying in the bed praying in Jesus Christ Name in reality.
