

As In The Days of Noah 11-6-24@3:05 PM

Just as it was in Noah's time, the time for it to rain has arrived. I shut the door. The dividing line has been drawn. Now My children, wait for the rain to come where the world will be flooded and the ark will rise to safety. Only this time children you are not riding in a physical ark of safety. I'm sending My Son to gather those who I have given Him who are ready.

Children, the door is shut and it's time to rain. At the time of the 7's end, you will have already left this world in My Son's arms of safety and those of My holy Angels. It's time for it to rain. It's time for the flood waters of judgment to be released upon your wicked world daughter...as in the days of Noah.

The time of antichrist, the man of sin has arrived upon your world, O' inhabitants of the world. Key players for these end time days to fulfill their divine role for My end time days are now being evidently seen. Although in some their positions will be questioned.

I raise up who is called to lead. When the king returns daughter, then know it is the beginning of the beast of the sea's year to reign. But the exact moment of when is not for Me to share at this moment in time as more is to be revealed first.

My years, My time is different than mankind's, so are My ways so much higher. But I love mankind, My creation. So with gentleness and long suffering I have waited as long as necessary to ensure all who are to board this last ark of safety would have the opportunity to do so. In the end though, it is their choice to make.

The queen will rise to power for a short moment in time. A lady of power, age, and stature shall be her confidant. She shall cause much damage to your badly shaken economy that in earnest began its descent into full collapse this year as I have warned, My daughter. This is after the removal of he who sits in the chair of power now.

Many are celebrating what they consider a great victory in your nation's election. Even though it was with great resentment and difficulty the queen conceded to her opponent. But she will still push for every vote to be counted trying to still manipulate a surprise win.

The obvious is not always the right one daughter. All assumed that Harris would win and mostly by underhanded and secretive means. I call who sits on the seat of power, not men, not demons, not fallen angels, nephilim, or any other such thing that could possibly hold a voice.

Now the final steps of Babylon begin faster. The suddenlies daughter, the suddenlies ... their times are here.

“Warn My children, it's time for the rain to begin and it will not stop raining until I purge this earth of the evil within and upon her.” “I will Daddy God.” “And daughter...” “Yes Father God.” “Even though you are not riding in the ark at this moment of time, I shall hide you from the flood until the time for you to step out as My end time witness. Just like the second witness too.”

I'm calling forth the rain now. My Son shall carry My command forth. It's raining time My daughter. It's time to rain down judgment. As in the days of Noah....the same yet different too.
