

I AM The Good Shepherd 2-9-24 @6:58 PM Shared 2-10-24

I am the Good Shepherd.

If you're tired, children, let Me be your strength.

If you're weary, let Me be your joyful song.

If you're saddened or depressed from sorrows, sickness, and woes, I say, let Me be your oil of gladness.

If you're wounded, let Me be your healing. I am the Balm of Gilead.

I am My children's Good Shepherd. I mend the wounds, tend to their hearts, and comfort them with My loving arms.

Come to Me, My children, no longer try to run this race on your strength alone. The race is almost over for those who are ready in Me, Jesus, your Savior. Jesus Christ, your Lord.

Come to Me, I say, and lay your burdens at My feet.

Come to My Cross and I will meet you there. I will carry your load for you, so you can finish this race. You're in the last mile, My children, for those who are ready in garments of white, made ready to meet Me, their Bridegroom.

Come, I say. Come to Me and let Me strengthen you like a second wind for the last leg of this journey. It's almost over, My children, for some. Yet others will still have more of their race to run as they enter the time of My wrath and judgment that falls upon the ungodly and even those who have finally chosen to follow Me in their hearts and not just in lip service. Can you see it, My children? Open your eyes wide...the finish line is in sight! It's only a little more ways to go before I come for you, My ready children, who make up My Holy Bride.

Come to My feet, rest a while, and renew your strength in Me, your Saving King and LORD. I will renew your strength, but you have to come. You have to rely on Me for your everything, instead of yourself or this world.

This last leg of the journey is filled with much treachery from the enemy and the hour of trial by darkness is soon to begin. I have given My children plenty of time to warn and prepare. Just as I have warned My children in Ukraine and of Babylon of the coming devastating attacks through use of nuclear power from your enemies. Some are within the country and some are without, such as Ukraine's enemy of Russia, the Bear, ruled by Putin.

You're going to need all of your strength in this last part of your race, My children. It's not that far to the end of your race. Come sit with Me at My feet, and rest in Me, and I will renew your strength. It's all about to go down now, as your world says so often, My children. Then those who are ready shall soon find their race over, and their prize is life eternal in My Heaven with My Father and Me.

You will never have to bear a heavy load again.

You will never have to suffer disease and sickness in your bodies ever again.

You will never have to be tempted to sin. For you will be out of reach of the devil, of satan, and all the armies of Hell.

You will never have to be lied to or lied about by fake friends and gossiping tongues. No. Here you will have undescrivable joy, peace, and love beyond your comprehension. It's almost time, My children. Come rest at My feet. Spend time with Me, talk with Me, pray to Me, spend time in My Word, and your strength shall return. My children, I am waiting here with arms wide open. So come let Me hold you, love you, and mend your wounds. Let Me lead as a good shepherd does for his sheep. I know who you are. I know you by name. Hear My voice calling out: Come, come to Me now. I'm waiting. I'm waiting. If you seek Me, you will find Me.
