

Big Mike's Return Dream 11-29-24@2:42 AM

This dream vision begins with me hearing your voice speaking these words to me. "It's going to be a cold, cold, cold time. It's time for the snow, the dirty snow I spoke to you about in times past that passed by you first in a cart of steel. Secondly in one bed of plastic blocks with snow stacked high as if it were cannonballs," the male voice said. I heard myself ask, "Is it really that time Big Mike?" Now I see a familiar face of a man who has brown hair with kind and intelligent green eyes. He is dressed much like he was the last time he had spoken to me about the two carts coming of dirty snow. He's wearing a dark blue parka style coat with a brown fur trim around it but this time he has his nose and mouth covered which I felt was more to hide who he really was than for the cold. I looked down at myself and I am dressed for cold weather as well. This time I am wearing a light tan coat that reaches to below my knees. I have a multicolored scarf around my neck and am wearing an insulated knit hat. It is cold outside, we though are in a town or a city.

"Big Mike, why are you here? Why are you not in Israel?" "A momentary peace has been given," he said to me then continued. "I have been sent to warn you but also to remind you of the coming two carts. But also your Saving King is now ready for your appointed time with Him." "I understand," I replied. Then Big Mike spoke again. "Daughter of the Kingdom, it's going to get very cold. Once the nuclear war begins a coldness shall set in upon this world that most are not prepared for. A devastating poisonous winner of sorts as the Earth is cooled down further by the events prior with Russia and Ukraine which will start this part of the event," he said quickly. "The event Big Mike, Michael? Is the event you're referring to the group of four suddenlies that the Saving King Jesus Christ has warned our world about?" I asked as understanding began sinking into my mind. "I do," he replied. "I know this already Big Mike so there must be more," I said. A movement caught my eye and I looked to see the few people walking down the snow covered street all bundled up too in winter type clothing. "It was cold out here that's for sure," I thought to myself.

I heard Big Mike speak again. "The snow comes quickly now. The Saving King has sent warning to those of His Kingdom to be ready. What few have failed to do is to contact the Kingdom's Head, the Saving King Himself to find out the arrangements He has made for His beloved people, His children of the Kingdom. If they had, they would have known to be prepared in advance to be moved to safety before the worst of the dirty snow hits this part of His kingdom." "Big Mike the two different carts you spoke about in your last visit, I saw them both. The first one was the steel food cart. It had a handle where it could be possibly steered or controlled in its direction. The dirty snow was piled inside it and did fall out covering lots of the areas surrounding it as it passed by but only after it fully passed by me. I remember Big Mike it was like the piled dirty snow was held there with the cart controlled yet also out of control it seemed," I finished. Big Mike nodded his head at me. I spoke again.

"I saw the second cart that was made of the pink, red, and yellow Lego blocks that didn't have any handles. It had the wheels that reminded me of wheels that went on a little red wagon. I remember it all very well, Big Mike. On this wagon was piled snow in the shape of cannonballs. Nine of them to be exact. The first wagon came by at 7:01 by my watch. Later that same day the Lego cart came flying by as if totally out of control. It too looked like the shape of a vendor cart. My wristwatch said 9. I didn't see any of the cannonball shaped snow fall but I knew when the cart finally stopped snow would cover a lot of territory. The Lego blocks were not going to hold together on impact from the way it appeared built." "And did you seek your answers from your Teacher to the questions you've held in your heart about these things?" Big Mike asked me seriously. "Yes I did, as well as from the Saving King Himself also," I replied to this question.

"I still have many unanswered questions but I have never stopped seeking for the truth of the answers. The Saving King is wise, just, and full of great love for His children. I suspect these unanswered questions are partly why you have returned," I said with a hopeful smile. Big Mike returned to smile with one of his own, his green intelligent eyes also sharp with wisdom too. "Daughter of the Saving King's Kingdom, you are correct. Only I also have more information straight from the Saving King Himself concerning the evil villains of the dark kingdom that troubles His Kingdom by attacking His children He loves so much." "I'm listening, Big Mike," I said quickly. He stood silent for a moment casting his eyes across the snow covered vehicles, trees, buildings, and the wet streets. Then he looked back to me and spoke. "I am to give you these answers. The first cart is dirty snow that is encased, that's controlled in the first cart. It is actually the end result in part of what is really hidden in the steel cart. This is in reference to the dark kingdom's evil weapons that will cause an effect from the sky that is nicknamed "dirty snow."

"Wait Big Mike! You're talking about these weapons encased inside something, are you not? Are you not referring to the hidden suitcases the Saving King has warned has been placed in parts of this part of His Kingdom?" I asked in astonishment. He looked at me seriously and replied, "Daughter of the Kingdom I am. The steel cart is symbolic of the black suitcases that's encased and protects the hidden devices. The handle on the cart was as you determined so this cart could be steered. Controlled for the dirty snow to fall where it is wanted. It can be directed or others hidden, then unleashed at the time chosen. This is why you saw the dirty snow covering so much. The dirty snow falling off the steel cart represents the full amount that results from all ten of the suitcases being released upon the part of the Saving King's Kingdom that you call your native land." Big Mike finished solemnly.

"What I'm understanding," I started speaking after a moment of silence, "is the first steel cart is symbolic of the hidden suitcases with the 10 weapons of the dark kingdom which can cause what looks like dirty snow or fallout from these evil rogue devices. The steel cart is protecting the dirty snow from falling out of it until they're activated. Then the weapon causes the dirty snow-like substance to fall everywhere but it's in a controlled protective setting like the suitcases that are protecting the 10 rogue nuclear devices inside. These devices in the suitcases are controlled. They're controllable. Just like the steel cart has a handle making it controllable. Is this right Big Mike?" I finally asked as pieces long sought for finally came into place in the full pictures concerning these two carts I had witnessed passing by me in the past.

Big Mike, Michael gave me a brief momentarily smile and said, "That would be one way of breaking it down. Yes, that is a close answer to what the steel cart with the piled dirty snow represents." "But this part of the suddenlies doesn't happen until the Saving King's land of Ukraine is struck by one of the dark weapons by the land of Russia. So the steel cart is for this part of the Saving King's land," I said in the voice of understanding. "You are correct. The Saving King owns all your world, all its lands, waters, even the sky by Creator's rights. But the dark kingdom has risen up through trickery and deceit and turned the minds of many of the other lands. Only those who sought to stay in direct contact with Jesus Christ the Saving King have been able to do so. And out of these, those who are ready, who have read His messages and warnings shall be ready when He comes to move His beloved children into the safety of the Kingdom walls itself where no harm shall ever reach them and no enemy can breach them," Big Mike said with a firm voice of authority.

I smiled at him and then said, "You will have a part in protecting the Kingdom and its lands as you do now." He replied, "Yes daughter of the Kingdom. I live to serve the Saving King. I was created to serve, to minister, and protect. This I shall do for as long as it is needed." "I know you will Big Mike. You are a prince above princes," I said with a genuine smile. We stood silent for a moment then I asked, "What about the second food cart made from Lego blocks with the nine snow-shaped cannonballs? What about the 7:01 hour and 9:00 times? Also when does the Saving King come to take His children to the safety of the Kingdom walls itself? Surely they are all tied together somehow." I asked questioningly.

"Daughter of the Kingdom, the second cart made of your land's plastic toy blocks, the Legos are carrying the nine snowballs shaped as you called them as cannonballs. This is a correct understanding. What does a cannonball mean to you daughter of the Saving King?" "It represents to me a form of attack that can be utilized on land or by sea, by boat. It means to me war and or invasion Big Mike. This has been my understanding of the snowballs shaped as cannonballs. Why there are nine of them or why I saw the cart pass at 9:00 I have still been seeking. I know when we met last and spoke of these carts and I received my letter from the Saving King it was during the calendar month of March in my part of the Kingdom in this land. So I thought if I added the number nine to the number three because March is the third month in my land's calendar then it gives me the 12th month which is called December in this land. Yet if I were to use the calendar month of the land you are Prince over Big Mike and counted the nine cannonballs of snow as your ninth month it still comes out on my calendar to be the land's 12 month. My land's 9th month even in the prior calendar this land observed has already passed. So if it's time now then I don't understand how it could be referring to the 9th month of any of these three calendars the Saving King uses at times," I said thoughtfully.

"You are correct daughter of the Saving King's Kingdom, it is in reference to the 12th month to come," Big Mike replied swiftly. "Okay, what about the times I noticed on my wrist watch? The 7:01 and 9, what are they for? Are they important?" I asked. "Yes, daughter of the Kingdom they are. The first number time of 7:01 is the time of the notice for you of when the 10 suitcases, the steel cart has begun its journey to completion. You know that often the Saving King has shared such things to you so you know what's going to occur when that direct moment of time you are made fully aware of. You have called it a feeling of being hit in your stomach very hard when things you've warned about transpire or are about to. This is what your 7:01 means. It's for you daughter of the Kingdom," Big Mike finished speaking. "Yes I know that feeling well and usually it's not long, maybe even minutes when I receive words something has happened. Is the nine for me as well or is it pertaining to something else?" I asked earnestly seeking the answers to these long sought-after questions.

"Daughter of the Kingdom you have nine cannonballs of snow showing you two things. Number one, the number of cannonballs the nine does give you a projected month for your cannonballs. Which also being of snow refers to a time considered cold for your Saving King's land you call home. Number two, the cannonballs themselves speak of attacks. Attacks which end results shall lead to invasion and then captivity for some still here in this part of the Saving King's Kingdom. This part of the land you call home, Big Mike said then continued. "The nine is a confirmed time for these things to transpire. You know the Saving King's Word of Holy Law speaks of a matter being established when confirmed or spoken by more than one. You have two 9's confirming and establishing that the time is set. The month is set. There will be an attack, then invasion that begins in the established number 9 month plus three of the land's calendar," Big Mike finished speaking. He had a look of genuine compassion in his eyes at the troubled look that it came across my face.

I finally spoke in a little whisper. "I know these things have to happen because many of the people have turned to the evil ways of the dark kingdom. Justice must be done for all but what about those who are innocent?" I asked sorrowfully. "Daughter of the Kingdom each person has a choice whether to be part of the Saving King's Kingdom or that of the dark one. Do not forget your Saving King has made preparations to remove those loyal to Him to the safety of His kingdom walls. This shall take place before the Lego cart crashes into your land delivering the 9 cannonballs of snow. Everyone directly connected to the Saving King who acknowledges Him as their King knows to stay close to Him. They have available to them just like you a copy of the Holy Word of Law. Inside it is instructions for all to be ready for the Saving King to come for them. He has left written signs to watch for. All have the same information available to them. You and other of the Saving King's beloved children have warned of many of the evils of the dark kingdom. Now it's up to those who have heard to accept or reject these such things given out of love from the Saving King's Kingdom."

"Now daughter of the Kingdom I need to speak to you of the coming cold. The cold created by the absence of the sun for three days in addition to the Ukraine attack by the land of Russia which shall cool down the temperature of all the kingdoms worldwide. Both the Saving King's land and that which is controlled by the dark kingdom. Then when you combine the hidden suitcase devices in your land and the steel food cart represented, and the attacks which are represented by the cannonballs it's going to get very, very cold on your world and land. You know you are still to remain to continue your work for the Saving King." "Yes I do," I replied. He nodded his head and continued. "Here are the thoughts and plans the Saving King wants you to share and warn about for He knows the thoughts of all who inhabit His created world. The dark kingdom has presented their technology and blueprints to lands loyal in part to them. Through this several have created what they call artificial suns. You know of this because the Saving King took you to see them. The enemy plans to utilize their created artificial suns at different times to control what lands get any warmth because the Saving King's sun will be mostly hidden by all that has occurred by the hands of the enemy. They intend to have an iron hand on the controls. It's going to get cold, very cold so if you can control which lands receive sunlight or not then those lands will become your obedient slaves desperate to not perish in the cold. This is... their thoughts and plans," he finished quickly.

"Is the Saving King going to allow it?" I asked quickly in surprise. "It sounds like they're going to hold the light and heat from their fake suns as blackmail, as ransom!" I exclaimed. "That would be a good assessment," Big Mike replied, "but do not forget the Saving King will have already removed those ready and loyal to Him to the full safety of His kingdom walls." "But what about those that will try to get to the main Kingdom to the safety of the Saving King's walls? We all know more are to come seeking His safety and love," I cried out. "Daughter of the Kingdom this is why I have been sent this appointed time. Sound the warning so those who can intercede can do so now on behalf of those to come and those who will return to the Saving King's arms of protection. For this shall indeed be allowed because the appointed time of the man of sin has arrived within the confines of this world. It is he, antichrist, who shall under the guise and deception as by someone else be really the one controlling the power given and administered of these few artificial suns."

"From one warrior to another I say daughter of the Kingdom your weapon of prayer in the Saving King Jesus Christ's Name is one weapon when used effectively cannot be defeated. So daughter of the Saving King it's time to war. Call those to battle who will war with you in the Saving King's Name." "I will, Big Mike, Michael I will." And with these words I can fully awake sitting up in my bed still feeling the residue of the cold air clinging to my body. Jesus Christ my love show me, show us how to pray effectively against these artificial suns but also anything else you want prayed for your children now and to come.
