

The 3 Days of Darkness & the 3rd Seal Dream 11-7-24 @ 3:18AM

“Father God I have prayed about this dream You have given me this morning which I have received at 3:18 AM today. Please sweet Holy Spirit bring it all to my remembrance that Jesus Christ my love wants me to remember as John 14:26 tells me You will do.” “I will, daughter of Zion.” “Sweet friend, in Jesus Christ's Name please don't let me write a word that's not from Father God, my lovely Jesus Christ, or You Holy Spirit.” I won't, daughter of Zion.”

I found myself in pitch black. I am sitting in what feels like a movie theater chair. It's quiet, unnaturally quiet. Suddenly I heard a click then I saw a faint glow of light coming from behind me. I turned to see there is an elevated room. I can tell there is a person inside but it is dimly lit. I'm not able to determine if it's a man or woman. Suddenly I heard what sounded like the flicking of film running through a movie projector. But it's an actual theater movie on a giant reel getting ready to be played. A light emits from the front and is cast upon what I now know and see is definitely a theater screen. I am in fact in a movie theater.

As I looked around I realized I am the only one here to watch the movie. At least I'm alone sitting in the theater seats unless someone is watching from somewhere else. As the movie starts to display on the screen a few white and black numbers, I turn my face on the movie screen. From out of nowhere I am offered a large size popcorn smothered in butter and a large Coke. "Here," a voice said even though all I could see was their hands that looked like the white gloved hands of the cartoon character Mickey mouse.

I looked at the popcorn steaming hot with butter and the large Coke and said, "Thank you but I really have no desire for that." Instantly the popcorn, coke, and white gloved hands disappeared but not before the voice said, "You're going to wish you had taken it after watching "this" movie." And "this" was heavily emphasized. Before I could think or respond I heard a man's gruff voice shout out from the elevated room and say, "The movie is starting." Then almost sternly he said, "Now pay attention!"

Before I could reply the movie began playing on the screen. I felt compelled to watch it. "It must be important if I'm given a private showing," I thought. There's a few credits and credentials that ran down the widescreen. The background is black and the writing is solid white. I watch as a scene before me goes totally dark, then I begin to see the sun begin to shine ever so lightly as if it slowly rising from out of the blackness. Huge words fill the screen in yellow trimmed in red bold block letters that shrink down to a readable size. The words are the title of the movie which is named, A new day is dawning. "Humph," I said to myself then asked, "I wonder what kind of movie this is supposed to be?" As I watch the sun begin slowly rising as if waking out of a deep sleep. It begins spreading its rays and I can tell they're cities below but they mostly appear to be dark without any lights except for a few spread out here and there.

As the sun continues to climb and its rays cover more and more lighting the way for my eyes to see, I can tell it's not only one or two cities that the darkness was covering but everywhere. Then slowly and at a gradual pace I begin to see the return of some power supplies as street lights are now seen and some lights in the buildings too. As the lights come back on it looks to me as if the whole world is waking back up and appears almost peaceful. That is until shrieks and screams begin being heard all over the world. On the movie screen are now pictures of close-ups of locations and cities around our world. All in distress! Many places I see are in shambles as if a raging war had occurred causing much destruction. Scene after scene passes of places from all over the world. "What's going on here?" I asked out loud. I heard a, "Shhh, pay attention," came gruffly from the man's voice in the elevated room. Apparently he's still there. I immediately hushed.

Suddenly the screen went black again and the title reappeared the same as before in the yellow letters trimmed in red which said, a new day is dawning. But then it disappeared and these words appeared in their place. "I bet you didn't know the 3 days of darkness is the fulfilling of the third seal the Lamb of God opened? For no one else was found worthy." "What!" I exclaimed. "How?" I asked emphatically. Then the words on the screen vanished and instead in their place in bold blue letters it read, "We knew you would ask that." Then suddenly the words disappeared once again but the screen stays dark this time. I began hearing your voice that sounded like a narrator reading a book or sharing a story or event.

"When the 3 days of darkness arrived upon the world of Earth during this time there was not found any source or type of generative power. Not solar, not electric, not natural, not nuclear, or even unnatural except for those belonging to the Lamb of God Jesus Christ, Yeshua Ha' Mashiach that He paid for their freedom which they received when they accepted Him as Lord of their lives. These were allowed the privilege of light. Some by supernatural lighting and power, others were provided the ability for candlelight out of love for His children. As the 3 days of darkness brought the horror of the releasing of lucifer's kingdom upon your world in full force in these last days for your world." As a narrator is speaking I am seeing scenes displayed before me of some of Jesus Christ's children who had only candle light to see by and His others who still had their power to their homes and locations. The narrator continued, "What most seem to forget is that with the loss of power your world also loses its ability to maintain its proper storage of refrigerated or frozen foods. Suddenly I saw stores, many that have had all their produce spoiled along with the meats.

"There will be loss of food supplies worldwide," the narrator continued. "Losses of the majority of the refrigerated items, as well as a vast quantity of the frozen. Without this supply there will be very little food to purchase except that which is already processed, packaged, and canned in some form or another of these types of food items. There will be loss of dairy products like butter, milk, cheese, and so forth. All ruined! That will be fresh vegetables and fruit spoiled from lack of refrigeration for this time during the 3 days of darkness. Even for those of the Lamb of God's children who only have candlelight. Even if they have an additional freezer that's packed with food some food loss still may occur. No ability for refrigeration means no maintaining also freezer temperatures to safely maintain the meats and poultry."

"Shortages, shortages, shortages," the narrator said quickly. As I'm watching on the screen pictures of mass dumping of turkeys, vegetables, hamburger meat, and such like into many dumpsters, load after load. Then suddenly the narrator said these words. "Do you understand? Are you getting the picture of understanding now? As the new day dawns... after the 3 days of darkness lifts...severe famine shall soon reach worldwide epic proportions. Because it won't take very long for each Nation to use up their stockpiles of these things, depleting them quickly. And those with any stock left shall raise the prices to where most cannot afford the cost," the narrator voice continued. There will be no stock...no supplies to ship across your world's supply chains to relieve the famine because every nation and location inside and on your Earth will be affected. And that is how the three days of darkness helps to bring the third seal of famine to fruition. "The end," the narrator then said on the playing movie. Suddenly the words, the end, appeared also in the same yellow trimmed in red block letters outside of the movie title.

The movie shuts off and the lights come on and there once again is the Mickey mouse looking gloved hands holding out to me another large popcorn smothered in butter with a large Coke. "Here," The voice spoke from the direction of the white gloved hands. "You really should take these. There might not be another chance for you to be able to have such things because this is the time the call has went out for the third seal of the book of Revelation to be activated fully." I reached out and took the butter popcorn and coke in my hands and the white gloved hands vanished out of my sight.

I'm sitting in the theater seat with a large bucket of butter popcorn in one hand and a large Coke in the other wondering, what am I supposed to do next? "Do I leave, or do I remain?" I asked myself as I looked around the now lighted but still empty theater. Then it hit me. In all our haste to prepare for all these things most of us never stopped to think or ever realized that yes, no power means no refrigeration for the whole world for the total time of the three days of darkness by mechanical, physical, or any other means other than by Father God. "What should I do?" I asked out loud. I heard a voice I recognized and love speak to me from the left. I looked up and walking into the theater is my lovely Jesus Christ dressed in solid white. He radiates with the glory of Father God all around Him.

"You tell My people the enemy has already come to this knowledge and will use this to further their advantage and control over the remaining people and inhabitants left in your world. I will not have My children ignorant of the enemy's plans. Those with listening ears shall understand and seek Me for their next steps. Wisdom is needed for the trying and testing for those of My children and the others still to come to be able to survive. Not only from Antichrist's evil regime but in basic survival because not all will be immediately taken to safety. They too must be refined and tried so they will not become deceived and choose the mark of the man of sin, the beast from the sea. Then I awoke.
