

The Churches Shall Burn 1-18-24@11:38PM With Confirmation

I will speak with you daughter, oh, daughter of Mine. During the days of Jeremiah the prophet, sin had risen to a peak. So has it here in your Babylon. With this sin also comes a renewed hatred for my children.

The time of the burning of the houses of God has come for I know what really goes on inside these houses professing to belong to me. Just like I showed Ezekiel through the hole in the wall the sins thought secret. I see it all. There is nothing hidden from me.

Church houses I declare will be burned to the ground as hatred for those who are Mine, who will not bend and compromise My word soon become hunted down and martyred.

Gather amongst those you trust in secret meetings to ensure the gospel is still preached across your world and nation as antichrist in secret at first, unleashes his scouts and AI empowered programs to gather every name of every church and every member in this world.

Little daughter, My children mostly are not prepared when they should be. Have not I have written in My Holy Word these things would occur? See the signs I have given to you. I do this out of love, out of mercy for you. It's out of My great compassion for you My children that I have written these scriptures and given word through My children further still.

Look for those buildings which bear My name or My Son's who will not conform and modernize their way of thinking and worshiping to that of the world's to be burnt quickly to the ground in the coming days with their pastors beaten, arrested, murdered, and the members seemed to follow.

And with this shall be a famine of hearing My pure word in its unadulterated form. You will soon find you can no longer obtain a written copy of My Holy Word. A famine has come, a spiritual famine of hearing My Word.

Burn the churches down I say! For let them burn to the ground for most are doing abominable works inside their doors. It is on the just and unjust this command I give. My people do not need a fancy house to gather in those whose hearts are seeking after Me for they can find Me anywhere. I shall no longer allow My Name or My Son's to hang over a church door that is serving false gods or of self and worshiping angels that fell.

Churches shall burn! Sheep shall scatter! Shepherds apprehended and some murdered! Are you prepared to pay the cost My people for loving Me and professing My Son Jesus Christ as your Lord? This is that time that has come.

Weep and wail little children, weep and wail for soon salvation's door shall be shut to the proud and stiffnecked people of your world. Reach all! Reach all! Reach all you can now while there's still a little moment left of time to do so.

Be bold in Me children in My Son's Name. Do not back down or compromise from the truth found written in My Holy Word because if you do, you will be among those that I shall rain My harsher judgements upon.

Stay close to Me through My Son for I am the God that moved so the children of Israel could be brought forth out of Egypt after over 400 years of slavery with a mighty, mighty hand! And mighty is what I shall be for those who stand true, stand firm, and unwavering in My Son's name.

27 churches burned down in 2023 according to the Observatory of Religious Heritage

As noted in a report by Laboratoire Lavoué, specialized in disaster expertise in a May 2019 report \(archived link\), "there are very few fires in places of worship (a few dozen per year in France)" but have "a significant to considerable impact".

"The risk of accidental fire intrinsic to these buildings is, in normal periods (i.e. outside restoration periods), tiny (and) the majority of fires affecting places of worship are of accidental human origin (work at risk in particular) or voluntary", most "buildings of places of worship" being "highly vulnerable to the risk of arson", noted this document.

Joined by AFP on July 12, 2024, Frédéric Lavoué, director of the Laboratory, indicated that the latter had not observed "peak fires in religious buildings" between 2020 and 2024.

L'Observatory of Religious Heritage (OPR) an association which works to preserve and promote French religious heritage of all religions indicated to AFP on July 12, 2024 that only 27 churches were burned in 2023 and 12 in the first six months of 2024 (archived here), according to his count.

Claire Danieli, head of the inventory of religious buildings at the OPR, also told AFP that "in the majority of cases, fires are accidental". "The pattern is recurrent. You have slates moving, the water comes in and touches the electrical wires. A short circuit is created without us noticing it and it's a fire. [...] Or it's electric heating. We plug it in on Saturday evenings for Sunday mass but which is no longer up to standard, and that's the blaze".

In the 2023 version of sound Action plan on cathedral security \(archived link\), the Ministry of Culture listed, among the "principal causes of claims in historic monuments" applicable specifically to cathedrals "defective or unsuitable electrical installations (more than 30% of the origins of claims)", the works "by hot spots", the "unsuitable storage" (plugs stored under a candle display, etc.) or "acts of malice".

In 2022, Senator Isabelle Florennes and Deputy Ludovic Mendes of the presidential majority had published a report intended to better combat anti-religious acts. The document states that 857 anti-Christian acts were committed in 2021 (archived here).

The report specified that 92% of the anti-Christian facts recorded concern attacks on property, including 752 at places of worship. "These figures are of course to be compared to the more than 46,000 Christian places of worship", recalls the report. Furthermore, attacks on property are not limited to churches but also take into account Christian cemeteries. And damage to property is not limited to fires but can also be damage (tags, breakage) or
